

BRYAN WON IN THE COMMITTEE

Had His Own Way In Controlling Many Of The Platform Planks. Lost Some Points.

CONVENTION MEETS THIS EVENING

May Finish Up Its Work At That Time. All Opposition To Parker Has Subsided.

(Special to Scripps-McLain.)
Convention called to order at 10:46 a. m.
Prayer by Samuel Sales of St. Louis.
Report of committee on resolutions being called for.
Committee on resolutions not being ready to report, time is being filled in with routine matters and calls for speeches by favorite sons, none of whom have responded.
Nothing doing; committee on resolutions not yet reported.

Hon. Oll James of Kentucky announces committee on resolutions will not be able to report until eight o'clock tonight, when they will bring in a unanimous report.
Convention adjourned until eight o'clock tonight.

must be subject to an examination and must prove if necessary they are not in violation of the interstate commerce law. To prevent a restriction of trade capital stock must be paid in full. Concerning the platform Bryan said: "There will be no minority report. The platform is not what any one of us wanted, but such as we can all stand on." Hill said: "The report will be unanimous. Of course there are some things we would like to have in the platform that are not there, but everybody is for the platform now."

No Business
National Committee Mack says there will be no business done at this morning's session, the platform committee not being ready to report. Probably there will be some speeches and then a recess until two o'clock. The convention was called to order at 10:44. The prayer was offered by Rabbi Sale of St. Louis. The call for the report of the committee on resolutions was called for the announcement of members of the new national committee. The new committee is asked to meet at the Jefferson hotel immediately after the final adjournment of the convention.
At eleven o'clock a committee was appointed to wait upon the resolutions committee and ascertain when it would be able to report. Meanwhile the hand played. A roll call for vice president was read. The convention called for Bourke Cochran, but he was not in the hall. Calls for Charles A. Towne followed, but Towne refused to speak. At 11:30 Richmond P. Johnson was called upon to address the convention. He responded and was received with cheers. His remarks attacking Roosevelt were loudly applauded.

The Report
At 11:55 the committee reported that the resolutions committee would not be able to report until eight o'clock tonight. At 11:58 the convention adjourned until eight o'clock tonight. It is understood no minority report is to be made.

BRYAN WINS A POINT

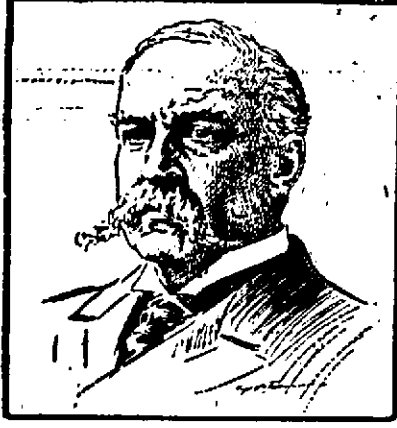

Forces Resolutions Committee to Accept Substitute Tariff Plank.
St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—Prospects for an all-night session of the committee on resolutions were promising at midnight last night. The report of the subcommittee was submitted at 8 o'clock last night, when the parent body assembled, and the first fight developed on the tariff issue. Every feature of the plank was attacked.
Opposition developed from a half dozen members, largely from the southern states on the proposition to abandon the old party position of a tariff for revenue. Tillman of South Carolina was the most emphatic in leading this opposition and demanded that the repudiation of the past position be made if it was proposed to be specific as to general features of the tariff.
After a long discussion a tariff plank submitted by Bryan was adopted in lieu of the declaration submitted by the subcommittee.
The Bryan plank is shorter and more direct than that of the subcommittee. It declares in effect that all tariff for protection is robbery and advocates a gradual reduction along lines that will not disturb business interests.

Behind the tariff issue is that of trusts and labor, which will precipitate an acrimonious debate, and in addition, Bryan will demand a declaration on the labor question.
Thomas of Colorado, who presented to the subcommittee a resolution on the mining troubles in his state, declared that the form in which it came from the platform-makers did not suit him and he would demand the substitution of another.
Senator Pettigrew presented a plank providing for government ownership of the railroads which he said would cover all phases of the trust question to his satisfaction. His plank follows: "The government should own the railroad engaged in interstate commerce and operate the same for service and not for profit, so that all shippers shall pay the same rate without reference to the amount of their shipment."

Talk of a minority report was freely indulged in by some of the members, but will not take definite shape until the committee has passed upon a report. Hill and several of the leaders were busy at midnight sounding the members on a concerted action after a reasonable time has been taken on each disputed plank to force a vote so that the resolutions may be ready for presentation to the convention at the session this morning.

BAILEY AND CLARK, JUGGLERS

Have Act of Their Own Before Settling Permanent Chairmanship.
St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—After the position of permanent chairman of JUDGE GEORGE GRAY.

Eminent Delaware jurist who is the choice of the democrats at that state for the presidential nomination at the St. Louis convention.

Ex-Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, Shively of Indiana and Fleming of Wisconsin are among those who were with Bryan and advocated silence on the money question. The committee finally decided to leave the question of the financial plank to a subcommittee composed of Bryan, John Sharp Williams and Hill. The indications point to an agreement on all the other points of the platform. In the fight for re-affirmation of the Kansas City platform Bryan was defeated. In the trust and tariff planks Bryan secured the adoption of amendments in conformity with his views.

Convention hall, 10:18 a. m.—Chairman Clark has arrived and says he thinks there will be three sessions today.

Too Radical

The trust plank was adopted declares against interstate traffic in

HON. GROVER CLEVELAND.
He is numbered among the possible nominees of the democratic party for president at the St. Louis convention.

Just-made articles. The said platform will not have a money plank nor an income tax plank. This compromise is between Bryan and Hill. Probably there is no minority report, Bryan being satisfied. The convention hall was filled to last seat. The weather is very warm. The Indiana delegation asked the hand to play "Wabash"; it was well received. Taggart received an ovation when his name was called for the national committee.

As to Trusts
The committee decided the trusts

LITTLE DAVID: "WHAT ARE THE WILD WAVES SAYING?"
PARKER (PROMPTLY): "NOTHING."

the convention had been passed from one to another between Senator Bailey of Texas and Champ Clark of Missouri it was definitely decided yesterday morning that the Missourian should be the man to wield the gavel. The managers wanted Bailey. They looked for better things from him than from the big congressman from the "you'll-have-to-show-me" state. The conservatives who are in control, headed by David B. Hill, wanted an address from a permanent chairman that would not lead them into any quagmire. They were not certain of Clark, who when he becomes excited is apt to slip his moorings and sail from his course. However, Bailey said he could not think of taking a job Champ wanted, and there was the further consideration that he wanted to be on the floor and fight Bryan if necessary. So after the position had been handed Bailey and by him to Clark, and by Clark back to Bailey, the latter at last and finally delivered it to Clark, and the thing was settled.

"ALONE IN A GREAT CITY"

Mayor Harrison of Chicago Star in a Most Pathetic Melodrama.
St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—Dashed high and dry on a rocky promontory above the troubled waters of the political sea is Carter Harrison's political craft. Waiting for the waters to rise again and carry it on its way is the badly damaged vessel minus its gilder and means of propulsion and otherwise showing the scars of the buffeting it has received.

Carter Harrison in St. Louis last night would be a laughable figure if his position was not pathetic. He has been cast down and out, together with his old ally, Bryan, and there are none so poor as to do him honor. He wanders aimlessly about in this crowded town, where there are thousands of prominent men of his party, men who served with his father in congress, who have been prominent in the party councils for two score years or more, governors, senators and members of congress, mayors of great cities; none of them apparently has a word to say to the mayor of the second greatest city in the country.

The Harrison outfit always marches on a mass in heavy marching order. If General Harrison is seen approaching in the distance it is certain that Colonel Lahart, adjutant; Colonel Loefler, quartermaster; Colonel Gray, chief of the commissary, and Colonel Roach, inspector of small arms' practice, will follow immediately.

NO RESPECT FOR BLACKBURN

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—Among the notable figures in the convention hall who neither occupied a seat as a delegate nor as a distinguished visitor was Senator Joe Blackburn of Kentucky. Senator Blackburn entered the hall on the first day and drifted aimlessly around the tunnel-like entrances until he found himself in the arena.

He tried to stand up at the south end of the stage, whereupon every body behind him yelled "sit down." The senator did not like to be addressed that way and looked menacing at the section whence the demand came. "Sit down," cried the section, "put him out."

The senator picked up his hat and walked through the crowd out of the hall.

TEN THOUSAND ARE HOMELESS

FLOODS RAGING IN KANSAS AND OKLAHOMA.

APPEALS TO SECRETARY TAFT

Mayor Gilbert of Kansas City, Kan., Asks Head of War Department to Authorize Commander at Fort Leavenworth to Issue Rations.

Kansas City, Mo., July 8.—Seven persons are dead, 10,000 are homeless in Kansas City, Kan., alone, and an appeal for aid has been sent to the government as a result of the floods that are raging in Kansas and Oklahoma. In this city the water at midnight was spreading over the whole sale district and business in Armourdale, across the Kaw river, has been suspended since noon Thursday. The property loss already is enormous and it is feared that later reports will increase the list of victims swept away in the surging waters.

Mayor Appeals for Aid.

Mayor Gilbert of Kansas City, Kan., has sent the following telegram to Secretary of War Taft: "Ten thousand people have been driven from their homes in Kansas City, Kan., by floods. I earnestly request that you direct commander at Fort Leavenworth to issue rations as we may require. Please answer."

Water Spout in Oklahoma.

The floods in Oklahoma are reported to be unprecedented for the rapidity of their rise. A waterspout, accompanied by a terrific wind, broke over Clinton. The rain fell in such torrents that the rivers and creeks within a few short minutes became raging torrents. The victims of the sudden flood were drowned almost before they could leave their beds, and their homes practically were washed away.

Expect Rise in Kaw.

It is from many of these small Kansas City to Manhattan, in western Kansas, the Kaw, that will come the water which will cause the predicted rise in the Kaw. The Kaw itself from Kansas City to Manhattan, in western Kansas, is stationary. Across from Kansas City the Missouri has flooded Harlem, a sparsely settled place.

Railroad service south and west of Kansas City is demoralized, numerous washouts being reported, and trains on the Rock Island, the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and the Missouri Pacific are stalled.

Hundreds Are Homeless.

Topeka, Kan., July 8.—The Kaw river here continues to fall. Advice from Manhattan says that both the Kaw and the Blue rivers are rising and that alarming reports are heard from upstream. Nearly 200 families are homeless in Iowa and the same number at Winfield. At the latter place the flood is as high as last year. The Cottonwood and Neosho at Emporia are receding slowly.

A movement is on foot to organize a hotel company, with a capital of $50,000, to remodel the Windsor hotel at Fond du Lac. The property was sold recently on foreclosure to G. A. Knapp, a banker at that city, and Gen. C. R. Boardman of Oshkosh.

MADISON MAN HAD FAMILY IN WRECK

Moses Block of Madison Lost Wife and Three Children in Norge Disaster.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., July 8.—Moses Block of South Madison received the shocking news yesterday that his wife and three children perished with the sinking of the steamship Norge which sank off the Scottish coast. He expected them to arrive here but did not know that they were on the ill-fated steamer. Their delay in arrival caused apprehension and inquiry. Mr. Block is a thrifty Russian Jew who worked and saved the money necessary for the passage of his family. His ten-year-old daughter was detained at Copenhagen on account of sore eyes. She is the only survivor. The family were steerage passengers.

MORE SAVED BY COASTING BOATS

Nineteen More Survivors Of The Norge Have Been Picked Up By Coasting Aseels.

(Special to Scripps-McLain.)
London, July 8.—Word has been received today that nineteen more survivors of the steamer Norge have been picked up and landed at Thorshaven, the capital of the Faroe Islands.

STATE NOTES

Charles Bristol and M. A. Baines were sentenced at La Crosse to "one year each at Waukon prison, charged with hiring a livery horse and failing to bring it back."

A domestic science department and other new features will be added to the curriculum of the Oconomowoc public schools, $13,000 having been appropriated for these purposes and an addition to a ward school.

The Rev. H. P. Haylett of the Methodist church at Waukesha has decided to give up his charge temporarily and will go west for his health. The Rev. W. W. Warner of Janesville will be in charge until September.

The Rev. E. E. Cady of La Crosse and Miss Belle W. Burton of Tomah were married in the Baptist church at La Crosse Wednesday night before 100 guests who were asked to attend a "church reception."

The Racine county board of supervisors has awarded the contracts for building a new asylum as follows: Construction of building, Chippewa Falls Construction company, Chippewa Falls, $81,841.77; heating, power plant, Mueller company, Milwaukee, $14,516; electrical work, Julius Anderson & Sons, Milwaukee, $1,800; plumbing, O. C. Davis, Racine, $5,707; superintendency, Chandler & Park, $5,000.

The state board of control on Thursday awarded the contract for supplying the state charitable and penal institutions with greenery during the next three months to Walsh, Boyle & Co. of Chicago, and will amount to $7,000. The contract for tens, coffees, and extracts for the same period went to J. H. Conrad & Co. of Chicago. It carries $2,500. For constructing the tunnel for the steam pipes at the industrial school for boys at Waukesha, the lowest bidder was J. W. Mitchell of Madison, whose offer was $2,840.

"Dog Saves Boy's Life."

Indianapolis, Ind., July 8.—"Hobby" Elliott, a newsboy, slipped behind from a car directly in front of a street car, but was saved by a dog that leaped in front of the car and knocked the boy out of the way.

Form Michigan Club.

New York, July 8.—Former residents or natives of Michigan, living in this city, are preparing to organize a Michigan society on the lines of the successful organizations of the states.

JAPS SHOW UP VERY BRAVELY

Closing In The Cordon Around Port Arthur Attack By Land And Sea.

RUSSIANS ARE VERY GLOOMY NOW

No Let Up In The Fighting Between The Armies That Are In Manchuria. Russians Retreat Slowly.

(Special to The Gazette.)
Tokio, July 8.—A number of detailed reports of the operations in Manchuria have been received here which show that the advance of the right and center of Gen. Kuraki's column began on June 27. Between that date and June 29, the Japanese captured all of the most important defenses along the two roads leading to Liao Yang.

The Russians made a strangely feeble resistance, their casualties being about thirty on northern road and nineteen prisoners; and on the southern road fifty, including eight prisoners. Great surprise is expressed throughout Japan at Gen. Kuraki's weak defense of positions which were essential to his lines of communication.

The Russian attempt to retake Mienting pass on July 4 produced severe hand-to-hand fighting, nearly all of the casualties reported being caused by bayonet or sword wounds. It is noticeable that in this fight for the first time since the war began, the Russians assumed the offensive.

Cossack Horses Dying

Reports received from Gen. Oku's army show that the health of the troops is excellent. All of the bridges between Pulantan and Wafangtien have been repaired and trains are again running. Japanese spies report that the Russian horses are dying at the rate of 200 a day from an epidemic of glanders, and that many Cossacks have contracted the disease because of lack of sanitary precautions.

The Chinese everywhere are accepting the Japanese and welcoming them with open arms. They are furnishing all supplies, needed and are accepting Japanese notes in payment.

The scenes at the departure of Field Marshal Oyama and Gen. Kodama and staff for the front yesterday were of unparalleled enthusiasm. The entire city was decked with flags and the officers were accompanied to the railway station by a number of diplomatic corps, including Lord and Lady Macdonald and several Americans.

Kuropatkin Makes Desperate Fight

Shan Hai Kwan, July 8.—Little news has reached here today of the fighting above Liao Yang. Gen. Kuropatkin is said to be making a desperate fight on the great Peking road above Mollen pass to hold Kuraki until the Russian lines at Liao Yang can be properly reinforced and according to advices with Russian source is meeting with success. Samsonoff is also said to have gained some advantage over the Japanese below Ta Schi Kiao. No fighting is reported about Hail Cheng for the last two days. The heavy rains due to the torrential rains are seriously hampering the Japanese movements.

Togo Bombs Port Arthur

Che Foo, July 8.—Admiral Togo has begun a heavy bombardment of Port Arthur and a determined attack is being made on the land side. The Japanese warships went in closer that they have for a long time and were well within the range of the heavy guns in the forts. The battleships maneuvered before the port practically all day and it is said inflicted considerable damage on the forts. None of the Japanese ships was damaged so far as has been heard here.

Simultaneously with the sea movement the land forces pushed their attack with renewed vigor. It was an artillery attack almost altogether. The Japanese gunners, it is said, are getting the range of the basin in Port Arthur and it is believed to be their object to make it so hot for the Russian squadron that it will be forced to go out and meet Togo before the final land attack is made.

The report that Marshal Oyama has reached the front was premature. It is believed here now that the final assault will be made when he arrives, which will be within a week.

SCHOOL BOARD MAY LEVY TAXES FOR ITS OWN USE

State Superintendent Baylis Holds That City Council Does Not Control in the Matter.

Joliet, Ill., July 8.—A difference of $3,500 in the tax levy made by the city school board of Joliet and that allowed by the city council has brought a decision from Alfred Baylis, state superintendent of instruction, that the school board has the power to make its own levy, irrespective of the city council.

Just what action the board will take is not certain, but President F. E. Marsh said that in all probability no new or additional levy would be made, the board believing it would have sufficient funds under the council's appropriation to carry on the work of the year.

The deficit of $3,500 was the result of a misunderstanding on the part of the council. The school board asked for a total of $118,500. The council, in casting up the figures, found that on the basis of city property this total would have to be cut $3,500 and the cut was accordingly made. The city school sections, however, go beyond the city limits. The city council overlooked this fact, confining the levy to city property alone.

WOMAN SLAYER GOES FREE AT PRISON GATE

Kentucky Governor Pardons Wife Who Killed Girl She Thought Had Won Her Husband.

Frankfort, Ky., July 8.—Mrs. Nancy Smith was pardoned at the penitentiary gate as she stood with a 3-months-old babe in her arms ready to enter to serve ten years for killing Alice Smith, a neighbor, who she heard was going to elope with her husband.

In granting the pardon Acting Governor Thorne said: "There is a certain sentiment in Kentucky, called unwritten law, which has prevailed in many cases. Under my observation as a practicing lawyer when men have been acquitted by judges and juries in similar cases it has met with applause."

The killing was a cold-blooded murder. Mrs. Smith shooting the girl twice with a rifle as she sat alone in her home sewing. Ten of the jury wanted to send her up for life.

FLOODS RAGING AT KANSAS CITY

Both The Kaw And The Missouri River Have Risen Rapidly. Loss Is Very Large.

(Special to Scripps-McLain.)
Kansas City, Mo., July 8.—Not less than sixteen million dollars is the amount by experts here in their calculating of the loss to the Kansas wheat crops owing to the excessive moisture this season. The Kansas river continues to rise slowly here this morning. No relief from the flood conditions is expected before tomorrow afternoon. The railroads continue to be paralyzed. Seven thousand refugees are the objects of systematic relief. The property loss is not to compare with last year's excepting through the interruption of business.

The Janesville Machine company, which has large warehouses and salerooms at Kansas City received dispatches this morning announcing that the two rivers were rising rapidly and that the crest of the flood would come tomorrow. The dispatches stated that the shocks of grain already harvested and stored were ruined and way under water and that if the water comes down as reported water almost as deep as last year. Precautions are, however, being taken and the loss will not be as large as last year.

SPARKS FROM THE WIRE.

Dr. E. A. Alderman of Tulane university has accepted the presidency of the University of Virginia.

President Roosevelt has approved the recommendation of the naval retiring board that Lieutenants Ford H. Brown and Lay H. Everhart of the navy be retired.

General Huertas, the commander in chief of the troops of the republic of Panama, and a party of friends will leave for Europe. On their return they will go to the United States.

Santos-Dumont, the aeronaut, has sailed for Havre. He took with him the silk covering of his airship, which was damaged recently at St. Louis. He said he would return to take part in the aerial contest at St. Louis in October.

Senator C. W. Fairbanks, republican candidate for vice president, has returned to his home in Indianapolis from Michigan. After attending to some private business he will go to Oyster Bay. He will speak at Indianapolis July 14, welcoming the Philippine commission.

After a ten days' stay in St. Louis, Cardinal Sattoli left in a special train for Indianapolis. From there the cardinal and his party will go to Dayton, O., and then come to Chicago, where they will arrive July 11. From Chicago they will go to St. Paul, and then by lake steamer to Buffalo. The cardinal will sail for Italy in August.

TRADERS SPURN NAME OF GYPSIES

ROVING HORSE DEALERS PAY
JANESVILLE A VISIT.

COME FROM LAND OF "EGYPT"

Nondescript Company of People and Dogs—Seem to be a Very Happy Lot.

Camped outside the city on the Madison road is a party of genuine horse traders. It is a glimpse of the old barbaric days when hordes of Huns migrated all over Europe in the days of Attila. These men spurn the name of gypsies but they have all the paraphernalia of this migrating tribe. Gaily painted wagons, dogs, horses and picturesquely dressed women and girls are with them. They claim to have come from the Egypt of Illinois, but in complexion are more like the denizens of the deserts of the real Egypt. The horses, wagons and occupants are of the most nondescript character. The men, a rough, unshaven, sandy-whiskered lot, the women, bronzed, alert and dressed in gaudy calicoes, the children, barefooted, healthy and happy as the children of the road are, form a picture most unique and interesting. The horses are of varied character, mostly of the scrub variety, some of them scarcely able to travel. These broken down brutes that are often bought for a song will be restored by easy stages of travel and good feeding until they will "look like new" when they will be sold to farmers or town traders at a good profit. Some of the wagons are roofed over with tin, some with canvas. Some of the warped and creaking wagons have no roofing and the contents are exposed to the rain and sun.

The Wagon Dog

In the company there are some 50 dogs, about 50 horses and about 50 dogs. The dogs, explained one of the men, are kept chiefly for guarding the horses and wagons at night, to furnish company for the children and occasionally for sale and trade. With all roving gypsies, the love for dogs is strong, and it is largely in response to this feeling that the canines are kept. The horse and the dog, man's most faithful servants, seem inseparable to people of this class. A particular kind of canine, known as the "wagon dog," has been developed by this wandering class. It cannot be described by any particular kind of marks or characteristics. It looks in fact like the ordinary scrub dog, and is of various colors, but it has a keen eye and great endurance as a traveler. There are some handsome black and white ones.

"The wagon dog," said the man, "is often as high-spirited as any other, and very valuable. The ordinary farmer's dog wouldn't be any good to us, as he couldn't travel, and is a poor watcher. We have wagon dogs, bulldogs, collies and setters. People are most afraid of bulldogs. A bird dog will bite a person as quick as a bulldog will, but people expect to get bit by a bulldog, you see."

Gypsies Dying Out

"Now, we ain't gypsies," he went on. "We're horse traders from southern Illinois. We're mostly Americans. Our women don't tell fortunes either. The old-fashioned gypsy seems to be disappearing. They're dying out and many of them have settled down in the cities, where they run livery and trading stables. In the early days the gypsies got independently rich, but people are bearing down on them and making it harder for them to travel. I have been on the road 30 years and never was locked up yet. It's easy enough to get along with people if you behave yourself. I have been in almost every state in the union and in Mexico and Canada. Generally we go south in the winter, and our family spends most of the winters in St. Louis, where we have relatives."

The children in the party seem to enjoy their stay in this vicinity very much, and seem to have not a little spending money. They munch candy and nuts with much gusto, and romped about among the horses and wagons, barefooted and bareheaded. The women were not idle. While here they bought skeins of yarn and with small hand-weaving devices made articles of fancy work in quick order. One of the women was seen to buy a new zinc wash-tub, which she carried to a wagon. The same wagon was seen to contain, among the other things which made up its cargo of furnishings, a child's express wagon. Children are children the world over and parents indulgent no matter where. "The kids are taught to read in the wagons," said the man, "and when we stop in town they are sent to school." One of the boys, who gave his name as Sammy Dale, proved to the writer that he could read also.

These people sleep in the wagons or in tents by the roadside at night, with bonfires to give them warmth and cheer. Here also their babies are born, and such incidents do not long delay their wanderings, explained one. But the progress of this class of people is slow, from four to twenty-five miles a day, and nearer the four than the twenty-five. They stop to dicker with farmers, and this takes time. They head for places where market days are held, and today a large company will go to Watertown for the fair tomorrow.

Apparently the gypsy name is in bad repute, as these people do not want to be classed as such, though this would come nearest to their rightful classification. Their world is the road and the horse. They know the horse from A to Z, and yet, said the man interviewed, "we sometimes make mistakes. When a man gets so he thinks he knows a thing perfect he gets keener and with us, as everybody else, we sometimes get beaten."

BIG PICNIC TO BE HELD JULY 21

Knights of Columbus of Beloit and Janesville Join at Yost's Park.

Field day sports with a baseball game will be the features of the big joint annual picnic of the Knights of Columbus of this city and Beloit which is to be held at Yost's park on July 21. Last year this outing was one of the best events of the summer and the managers are planning to have the picnic just approaching the best ever given in the county. It will be remembered last year that the Janesville lodge won the baseball game by a score of 7 to 5, but the Beloit players claim that the winners had several of the Bass Creek nine in their lineup and the Beloiters picked up their team after reaching the park. This year there will be something doing when the Janesville team clashes with the Beloiters. There will be a tug-of-war, races and contests of all kinds.

LONG HAIR MEN WITH A MESSAGE

"Israelites" from Benton Harbor Had to Cope With Other Attractions at
Cor. Main and Milwaukee Sts.

"If you would rather look at pictures than listen to the word of God I cannot hold you; this is a free country," said a long haired individual who was haranguing a score or more idlers at the corner of Milwaukee and River streets last evening. He spoke somewhat bitterly. A man with an exhibition of gaudy "art masterpieces" near by was dividing the evangelist's audience. A companion preacher also blinked sadly and shot a glance full of reproach at the razor-strop vendor who was edging into the group and mildly glaring at the two attractions that were interfering with his prerogatives for the evening. T. Adkins and M. Gile are "Israelites" from Benton Harbor, Mich. They are here in search of converts to the new faith.

NEW GRAFT NOT YET TRIED HERE

The Latest Dodge of a Man Ambitious to Gain Wealth Without Work.

A new variety of bunco game has been exposed by the arrest in Bangor, Pa., of James H. Murphy, otherwise known as Allen, and arrangements are being perfected to bring him to Fitchburg for proper exposure and punishment.

Mr. Murphy is evidently of a literary bent. He reads the newspapers. When he sees an item that strikes his fancy he enters into a correspondence about it, and in his letters paints himself as a bad man with a pricking conscience.

Some weeks ago a mill owned by Senator Wallace was burned. Carelessness was apparently the cause of the fire and no suspicion of anything to the contrary was entertained until a letter from Bangor was received. This stated that the writer, who gave his name and address, knew who set the fire and would tell if $25 was sent to him to enable him to pay his expenses to Fitchburg, where the mill was burned. His associates, he said, had deserted him, and had sent him to New Mexico, but he had not gone beyond Fitchburg when his conscience smote him. Acting under the advice of Chief Tinsley of the Fitchburg police, Senator Wallace replied to this letter and stated that the writer would be paid more than $25 if his story proved to be true and if he would come to Fitchburg and tell the details. This brought another reply, more pathetic than the first. The writer would come, he said, but he was absolutely out of funds and it was such a long walk.

Meanwhile there had been a murder in Indiana, and Mr. Murphy had entered into a correspondence with the officials about it. He knew who committed the murder. It was one of his pals, and he would tell all about it for a money consideration, in addition to a safe conduct. The Indiana authorities made inquiry of the Bangor police regarding Mr. Murphy or Mr. Allen, but at the hotel address he gave nothing could be learned of such a man. A decoy letter was sent, however, and through this agency Murphy was caught.

While he was in correspondence with the Fitchburg and Indiana people he also undertook to write a letter to Mayor Ashley of New Bedford, in which he offered to give state's evidence regarding an assault and robbery. Again he claimed to be a party to the assault and robbery, and again his conscience bothered him so that he had to write. He would come to New Bedford for $25.

Before negotiations had proceeded further he was arrested on the decoy letter from Indiana. Whether he found any victims willing to jump at his numerous offers addressed to all parts of the country is not known, but an effort is to be made to punish him for attempted swindling in connection with the Wallace case, and he will probably be extradited and brought to Massachusetts.

CLARK FAILED TO RECOVER FOR THE MOONBLIND COLT

J. J. Dulin Must Pay for Lunches Eaten
at Alderman Schmiedley's Restaurant.

In Justice Earle's court a judgment, more has been rendered in favor of the defendant in the action brought by Robert Clark of Harmony against Stephen Diles to recover damages for a moonblind colt purchased by the plaintiff. The court found that the plaintiff should have kept the horse. A judgment in the sum of $14.62 and costs was rendered in the action brought by J. J. Schmiedley against J. J. Dulin, Jr., to recover payment for lunches eaten at the restaurant.

Instead of stamping out the reptiles they appear to be increasing, from the tails presented the clerk for payment. In 1903 there were 2,887 rattlers killed, and this year the number promises to exceed that figure. The suspicion of fraud seems well founded.

OF EXQUISITE SIMPLICITY

The simplest of white handkerchief linen is used for this exquisitely simple design, the chic depending entirely on the sheerness and daintiness of materials and execution. To a round yoke of Valenciennes lace insertion the gown is applied on Empire lines, a pointed handkerchief-belt the meeting the yoke, this elaborately decorated with the simple lace. The full puffed sleeves are banded with it, and the narrow cuff is similarly constructed. The full and bouffant skirt has a narrow volant, lace-trimmed at the bottom, and vandyked points of entre-deux appear above the hem.

House Decorators' and Painters' union, of London, England, has sent a strike donation to the officers of the International Union of Flour and Cereal Mill Employees.

More than 8,000,000 of the 13,500,000 people of Mexico do not work and of those who do work 1,488,024 are in domestic services and 116,000 are salaried earners.

At the recent convention of the Women's Trade Union League of America it was decided to put an organizer in the field to organize unions of women wherever possible.

Russian ironmasters from the northern and Baltic districts will meet some time in the fall and among other topics will discuss the compensation of injured workmen.

Engineering firms of Belfast, Ireland, reduced wages of employees 5 per cent. in October. This is owing to American and continental competition.

A commissary and a lodging house for idle miners and mill men in the district have been opened at Telluride, Col., by the Western Federation of Miners. The number of men already thrown out of work in consequence of the mill men's strike is about 1,000.

An association which has for some time been struggling with the servant girl problem in New York City, recently held its third prize distribution. Twenty-three maids were presented with engraved cards and a box containing $100 in gold. They had remained in one household two years. Four girls received a special prize for having remained four years in one place.

The national eight-hour bill, which failed of a report by the Labor Committee, is now in the hands of the Department of Labor and Commerce, which has been instructed to report to the next congress upon the following point: First—What would be the additional cost to the United States under the bill on articles which it customarily obtains by contract? Second—What damage would it inflict upon the manufacturing interests? Third—Would contractors who now supply the government continue to contract with the government? Fourth—What effect would it have upon the export trade?

EDDIE FAY IN ROCK CO. JAIL

A SUSPECT IN $14,000 SUPERIOR POSTOFFICE ROBBERY.

TOO DANGEROUS FOR MADISON

Recent Escape of Prisoners From Capitol City Dungeon—Keep Responsible for Deportation to Janesville.

Eddie Fay, alias Eddie Smith, suspected of being implicated in the $14,000 post-office robbery at Superior last October is now a prisoner in the Rock county jail. He was brought here from Madison under the escort of three deputies Wednesday and will remain in the local custody until his trial in the September term of the federal court at La Crosse.

FEARED HE MIGHT ESCAPE

The escape of Flaherty, supposed to be one of the same gang, from the jail at the Capital city several weeks ago, and the more recent escape of two other prisoners who had pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary, and were to be taken to prison on the following morning, alarmed the authorities and Sheriff McWatty was instructed to remove Fay to Janesville with all possible haste.

ONE WAS CONVICTED

At Superior two weeks ago United States District Attorney W. G. Wheeler conducted the prosecution of Dennis, another of the suspects. A conviction was secured and the man was sentenced to five years in the federal prison at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. The presence in the court room of four men supposed to be from Chicago, was noted during the trial and an espionage on them was maintained by the officials. On the night Dennis was to start for prison these men disappeared and were careful to leave behind them sufficient evidence that they had gone back to Illinois.

A DESPERATE GANG

Shortly after his return to Janesville Attorney Wheeler received a newspaper from Ft. Leavenworth which noticed the advent of Dennis and stated that when the deputies and prisoner upon their arrival stepped from the depot and boarded a street car they discovered among their fellow passengers two of the four conspicuous characters who had been observed in Superior. Only the wise precaution taken to have two guards with the postoffice robber is believed to have prevented a daring attempt to rescue him. Fay is said to be a fine looking man. In the Rock county jail he is allowed to see no one but his attorney, Lawyer Scanlan of Chicago.

SOME GOOD GAMES ARE IN PROSPECT

Janesville Baseball Team Plays Madison
on Sunday—Union Giants
Meet Maroons July 15.

Baseball enthusiasts have several good games in prospect. At Yost's park on Sunday the Janesville team will play the strong city league team of Madison. Palmer and Broughton will form the battery for Janesville and Barry and Davis will act in a similar capacity for the Capital city aggregation. On July 14 the Chicago Union Giants, colored players, will return to play off the finals with the Clinton Maroons at Athletic park. Each team has won a game and the "rubber" will be hotly contested.

VERDICT OF THE PARTY

From the report of the Committee on Credentials to the REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CONVENTION, which was unanimously adopted by that convention, June 22d, 1904.

Your committee report it to be their final judgment that the convention which elected John C. Spooner, J. V. Charles, J. W. Babcock and Emil Baensch as delegates at large, and their alternates at large, to this convention from the state of Wisconsin WAS THE REGULAR CONVENTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY IN WISCONSIN, and that the delegates elected by it are the regular elected delegates at large from the state of Wisconsin to the republican convention, and, as such, are entitled to seats in this convention.

DOMESTIC TRADE.

Domestic trade movements covering the first five months of the current year are reported in the Monthly Summary of Internal Commerce for May by the Department of Commerce and Labor, through its Bureau of Statistics. The figures of representative movements indicate that there has, with proper exceptions, been an evident decrease in the consuming demands of the country. On the other hand some leading commercial activities continue to maintain an increase in the volume of business, in comparison with the corresponding periods of 1903. This is the case with livestock receipts for which reports were received from leading distributing centers of the West. The five markets of Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, St. Louis, and St. Joseph report combined arrivals of 13,950,227 head, against 12,578,270 head in 1903 and 12,503,637 head in 1902.

Receipts of grain at twelve primary markets totaled 28,201,485 bushels, in contrast with 33,822,802 bushels in 1903. Receipts of wheat at eight markets from the beginning of the crop year to May 30 were 207,834,152 bushels, as compared with 228,519,561 bushels in 1903.

Through navigation on the great lakes began with the opening of the Sault Ste. Marie canal May 5. The Welland Canal opened May 2. The strike on the lakes prevailed through the entire month of May, consequently the season's tonnage compares unfavorably with that of preceding years. Only 1,016,723 tons were reported as received at 118 ports in contrast with 5,144,819 tons last year, and 6,795,337 tons in May, 1902. Compared with last season to May 31 there has been a loss of over six million tons of freight in domestic lake commerce.

The total freight tonnage by way of the Sault Ste. Marie Canals was 419,888 tons, against 5,188,107 tons in May, 1902, when these canals opened about twenty-five days earlier.

Receipts of grain, including flour, reduced to bushels, at 5 ports during May were 8,582,168 bushels, and 22,914,627 bushels in May, 1903. For five months this year 69,552,255 bushels were received, in contrast with 112,512,133 bushels last year. The reduction is attributable to three leading causes, including reduced surplus for foreign shipments, the late opening of lakes and canals, and partial suspension of lake traffic during May.

Of the five ports reporting on seaboard receipts, Portland for the five months received 2,234,221 bushels, of which 1,932,067 bushels were from Canadian sources and 302,157 bushels from United States sources. At Boston, receipts were 10,687,817 bushels, compared with 15,337,939 bushels last year. Grain receipts at New York during this year were 4,795,324 bushels, compared with 12,044,299 bushels during May last year; at Philadelphia, 11,239,515 bushels for five months ending with May, 1904, and 17,856,558 bushels a year ago; at Baltimore, 13,115,348 bushels this year and 23,290,525 bushels last year. Coastwise coal trade at five tide-water points as reported by the railroads and shipping companies for the month of May, 1904, amounted to 3,012,304 tons, and for five months ending May, 1904, 15,501,445 tons. From New York these shipments amounted to 8,804,837 tons for five months; from Philadelphia, 2,049,556 tons have been reported; from Baltimore, 871,947 tons; from Norfolk, 781,691 tons; from Newport News, 991,204 tons. Of the total shipments, from all these ports, 7,135,368 tons were bituminous coal and 6,366,077 tons anthracite. Coal receipts at Boston from domestic sources, mainly by coastwise shipments, totaled 1,819,789 tons to the end of May, of which 851,592 tons were anthracite and 968,197 tons bituminous. A year ago the five months' receipts amounted to 1,801,140 tons. In southern territory receipts of cotton since September 1 totaled 9,681,115 bales, comprising nine months' returns, excluding 167,709 bales left over at interior markets at the beginning of the season. The total available supply on June 1 was 9,551,914 bales. Of this quantity 7,002,973 bales were received at ports. The net overland movement was 891,094 bales; 5,994,807 bales were included in exports, and domestic spinners' takings amounted to 3,744,209 bales. Exports have been considerably lower than last year and domestic takings slightly larger. Overland shipments showed a considerable decrease, and port receipts were two-thirds of a million bales smaller than for the preceding year.

A market decrease in the grain trade at southern ports is apparent. May shipments at Galveston were 287,060 bushels, compared with 1,413,056 bushels in May, 1903. For five months the comparison is more favorable, 5,278,060 bushels having been shipped this year compared with 8,383,451 bushels a year ago. The growing importance of Louisville, Ky., as a grain market is indicated in receipts for the first five months of the current year, when 11,398,997 bushels arrived. In 1903 receipts amounted to 9,085,818 bushels.

On the Pacific coast most primary lines of trade have gained to record. Receipts of grain at San Francisco during May amounted to 1,468,675 bushels, in contrast with 1,107,161 bushels in May, 1903, although the year's receipts to the end of May were 7,021,874 bushels, against 8,432,305 bushels last year.

Arrivals of redwood, pine, and fir at California coast points during May were 98,229,264 feet, and exceeded those of any preceding month this year. For five months arrivals were 433,036,628 feet, likewise exceeding receipts for the corresponding period in any of the three preceding years. Tacoma lumber shipments have increased, 45,892,092 feet having been reported this year to the end of April and 33,397,612 feet last year.

Orange and lemon shipments decreased during May, from 995 cars in the first week to 791 cars in the last week ending June 2, compared with 505 cars last year and 221 cars in the preceding year. Since November 1, 23,066 cars have been shipped, compared with 17,252 cars last season and 14,321 cars in the preceding season.

Oriental demands for flour through the three ports of Portland, Tacoma, and Seattle have been scarcely half so large as a year ago. Combined shipments in May this year were 52,336 barrels, compared with 116,211 barrels in 1903. Comparing eleven months however, 2,261,261 barrels were shipped to May 31, this year, and 1,606,759 barrels to the corresponding date last year. Eighty per cent. of last month's shipments went to Yokohama.

Traffic on inland waterways shows the effect of late opening, though increased tonnage is not exceptional. Operations on the Monongahela River are reported as amounting to 951,327 tons in May. Last year they were appreciably larger, 1,171,555 tons having been credited to this month. For the period of five months 3,736,143 tons were moved, and 5,012,286 tons in 1903.

Traffic movements by way of the Davis Island Dam, below Pittsburg, represents the volume of river commerce to and from the Pittsburg district on the Ohio. This season's tonnage shows substantial increase in spite of lateness in clearance of ice from the Ohio. The total freight was 2,334,729 tons to the end of May, of which 2,310,961 tons went downstream and 23,768 tons upstream. Of the downstream total 2,250,087 tons, or 98 per cent., were coal.

At Louisville, Ky., 1,523,814 tons of freight passed the canal and falls, against 1,011,553 tons in 1903, to the end of May. Coal contributed the largest item of increase. Salt was shipped in double the quantity of a year ago.

Compared with the exceptionally large shipments of anthracite coal during the first five months of 1903, the current year's tonnage has been nearly three millions short. By the end of May, 1903, an aggregate of 26,418,455 tons had been moved from the mines. This year 23,528,412 tons have been reported. Partial suspension of lake business during May acted in favor of a restricted movement.

In the bituminous coal regions a materially lighter coke demand has reduced tonnage to this class. The Pennsylvania Railroad reports 3,538,719 tons of coke originating east of Pittsburg and Erie, against 4,097,761 tons to the end of May, 1903. The same road's bituminous coal figures for corresponding periods in these two years show very little reduction.

Taking the three bituminous coal roads reaching tide water on the Chesapeake Bay, there does not appear to have been any loss of tonnage. The Baltimore and Ohio, reporting for four months, the Chesapeake and Ohio for four months, and the Norfolk and Western for five months, show a combined total of 14,106,676 tons, compared with 13,473,929 tons last year. On the contrary, seven Ohio railroads report a falling off in bituminous shipments from 5,629,948 tons last year to the end of May, to 5,055,777 tons this year. At Chicago 4,547,973 tons were received this year, against 5,127,846 tons in 1903. St. Louis reports a similar shrinkage.

The withdrawal of staples from domestic into foreign commerce is influenced favorably by ocean freight rates. Rates on grain, New York or Boston to Liverpool, were one-third lower than in May last, the ruling rate being 3 cents per bushel last year and 2 cents this year. To Antwerp, 41-2 cents and 3 cents, respectively, were the corresponding rates. On the Pacific coast, where a single cargo was reported at 17.3 per long ton from San Francisco to Europe, freights are at a standstill, on about the same basis as last year's average, which was 17.3. Coal freights to Japan were quoted at $5.75 per ton from New York. From Great Britain to the Far East a rate of 23 shillings, of $5.75 per ton has been published. From this it appears that the American and the Welsh markets stand on very much the same basis in the matter of freights on coal to the Orient.

England sort of thinks that in a small way she is responsible for the great loss of life each Fourth of July.

Col. Watterson can not find anything to find fault with in Senator Fairbanks' appearance except the parting of his hair.

Madison people who did not come to Janesville on the Fourth are said to be much disappointed after hearing the stories of those who did come.

Just see how mean some men are. Everyone knows Grover had that private telegraph wire put in so he might decline the presidential nomination.

Has Mr. Bryan really decided upon bolting the convention and asking Mr. La Follette to join him at another convention?

Hearst's boom, like Wall's, flattened out most decidedly when the time came to spring the big guns on the enemy.

Evidently the terrified from New York think they can do as they please in St. Louis as well as in New York.

The picture of Grover Cleveland talking to the woods is funny. Poor Grover.

Mr. Bryan certainly had a few friends at the St. Louis convention after all.

Rock county is quiet on the surface politically, but wait until all parties are rested up from the campaigning of the past two years.

How would Miles and Coxie be for a ticket for the wandering Wilkes to support? Both are generals, or were.

Campaign literature has not yet begun to come through the mails to help swell the rural mail deliveries.

Judge Parker is still holding his silence. He and Fairbanks are a pair.

Where are the populists? They have not even mentioned General Miles.

Maybe Bryan can dictate a weather plank for the democratic party after all.

There are plenty of lightning rods stuck into the air at St. Louis today.

One of the largest crowds of the season listened to the open air concert given by the Imperial band last evening. Many of the numbers were enthusiastically encored.

Has Narrow Financial Margin. The laws of Russia pertaining to banking are very severe. A merchant in Russia can be declared bankrupt if his liabilities exceed $772 and he has not the ready cash to meet them. He can be arrested, and his retention depends on the good will of his creditors.

Trick of Magnetic Needle. A German professor says that over a large area of central Russia the magnetic needle does not point north or south. It is in one part deflected to the west, and at another part deflected to the east, and at one place it points due east and west.

NEARLY COOKED BY LIVE WIRE

EDWARD BOYD NEARLY ELECTROCUTED THIS AFTERNOON.

SIXTY-SIX HUNDRED VOLTS

His Left Hand Was Badly Burned and He Was Seriously Shocked by the Electric Current.

Edward Boyd, a thugman in the employ of the Western Union Telegraph company, was nearly electrocuted this afternoon while at work in front of the Western Shoe company. Had it not been for his slipping off the wires he fell across he would have been literally burned to death on the top of the pole before he could have reached him. He has been removed to the Park hotel and is lying at the point of death at the time of going to press.

Awful Accident

Boyd was a member of the party of thugmen who began work this morning. He was on the second bar of a telegraph pole. It is thought that he missed his footing and grasped a live wire. This and the connection made by his leg touching another wire made the complete circuit and his hand and leg were badly burned. He managed to lose his hold and fell to the pavement, a distance of thirty-five feet, sustaining severe injuries about the head.

5,600 Volts

It is estimated that Boyd received the full voltage of the wire—about sixty-six hundred volts—and the physician in charge, Dr. McCarthy, is working to counteract the effects this immense voltage had upon his heart. If he is able to withstand the shock to the system his fall will not be sufficient to cause his death.

WERE WITH THE BRYAN ARGUMENT

Wisconsin Delegation Voted For The Nebraska Man's Side Of The Argument.

Wisconsin democrats stood by Bryan in the test vote at the convention in St. Louis yesterday. The twenty-six votes from the Badger state including the vote of George Sutherland of this city, were cast with the 230 delegates who stood firmly by the "Big Orator of the Platte" and against the 417 men who represent the rest of the democratic party. It might, however, be stated that the 239 who voted with Bryan voted to protest against the seating of the Illinois delegation headed by Hopkins, who were elected at a convention that was exactly similar to the Wisconsin republican meeting at the armory in Madison, which was under the control of the state administration. A Chicago paper this morning comments upon this question and wonders how the Wisconsin democrats who helped elect La Follette delegates feel at the repudiation of their actions by the delegates from the state to the national convention.

Shoppers had a fourth of July celebration that from all accounts was full of interest to the four hundred spectators who were present. Hon. John M. Whitehead was the orator of the day and after a dinner beneath the trees field day sports and a baseball game took the attention of the crowd. In the evening there was a grand display of fireworks. In the hundred yard dash the Shopiere champion, Weirick, was defeated. R. K. Overton of La Prairie was first and Clapper of Clinton taking second, placing Weirick of Shopiere third. In the tug of war the farmers' team carried off the first honors and the Shopiere team was victorious in the baseball game.

RATHER HARSH ON THE NATIVE CITY
Two Residents Who Believe That Janesville Does Things Only To Be Seen By Men.

Two men stood in front of the Myers hotel this morning and emphasized the need of an Emergency hospital in Janesville. "Talk about progress," said one, "I say this city in no respect than one belongs to my back in the rear. If a man who doesn't happen to have a home or any financial rating here is hurt on our streets there is no place to take him unless some man can be found who will guarantee the expenses of taking care of him. The hospital cannot receive him on any other terms. If he happens to be dying he can keep right on until one of those rare Good Samaritans comes along and agrees to stand for him. The ambulance will take him, of course, and can generally rely on the city paying for the service if no one else will, but the next question after he is loaded into the ambulance is his destination. If the city cannot provide an emergency hospital of its own it should rent a couple of cots in the private hospital. It should provide for a public ambulance service. When a man's hip is fractured, for instance, there are ten chances to one that the bones will never mend if he is joggled over the rough streets in a delivery wagon. Supposing he is a county charge. Being maimed for life he is going to cost more in the end, isn't he? When that man who jumped off the bridge the other day was rescued he had to be taken to a house where he once lived and thrust in upon the people regardless of their protests and of the fact that they were getting ready to receive company."

"You are right," said the other. "Andrew Carnegie could do more good building hospitals than libraries. Some cities are too all-fired stingy to do anything that can get out of doing for their unfortunate, but they will spend money to be literary. I am a believer in retribution and fully expect that some day there will be an awful disaster in Janesville and that the wounded will have to die in barns for lack of proper care."

ODD STORY OF MARY ELISABETH PEASE.

WHOSE SANITY WAS DOUBTED

School Teacher Came Here From Marinette Co. to Seek Vacation Employment.

Miss Mary Elisabeth Pease, waitress for two days at the Hotel Myers, whose strange actions on several occasions led the management to call for an examination into her mental condition by Drs. S. B. Buckmaster and J. B. Whiting, will leave for her home in Fairbault, Minnesota, this evening in charge of a nurse, having been kept a prisoner in her room under the surveillance of this nurse since the examination the sound of the whistle which announces the coming of the 8:55 train will be a welcome one to the unfortunate woman.

Brother Sends A Check
She is perfectly rational except at intervals when she labors under the delusion that some enemy is seeking her life. She told the physicians the particulars they asked for regarding her relatives in Fairbault but begged that they be not apprised of her condition and that she be permitted to go her way in peace. The folly of such a course was pointed out to her and Dr. Buckmaster immediately made an effort to communicate with a brother of whom she had spoken as being a cashier in one of the Fairbault banks. He was not in the city at the time but the message asking him to forward instructions and a check payable to Judge Sale for sufficient money to pay expenses finally reached its destination. This morning he sent to Dr. Buckmaster a check for $100 accompanied by the statement that he would come to Janesville in person if it was deemed necessary. The doctor wired back that it would be perfectly safe to send the young woman home in care of a nurse.

HOBOES WANDER THROUGH COUNTRY

LARGE NUMBERS ARE FOUND HERE THIS SUMMER.

TRAVEL IN SMALL PARTIES

Few Care To Work Even If A Job Is Offered Them—Usually Are Very Lazy.

This is the season when the hoboese are with us. Almost every household or living at no great distance from the railroad tracks are more or less familiar with this easy-going class of transients. Few school boys have any sympathy to waste on them and all are usually glad when the weary after "a bite to eat" leave their yards in the direction of the tracks from which they came.

This year there is no falling off in the number of tramps which visit Janesville. On the contrary, a larger number of the gentry have appeared in this vicinity than has been the case for years before. Some railroad men attribute it to the fact that there is less work to be had now, that positions are easily filled on account of the plentiful supply of labor, so that many men are crowded out in the race for bread. Whatever the cause, the able-bodied men who can't find work do not seem to mind their failure with heavy hearts. None of them has any thought of becoming despondent and committing suicide because he is unable to get employment. Their present life suits them well enough. A hobo whose clothes do not fit him tightly is a rarity. All of them are stout and have a well-developed appearance, which makes the kind-hearted housewife doubt whether she is really doing a work of charity in furnishing them with something to eat.

Some of the tramps who come to Janesville are inclined to look out for their future welfare by going to work for a few days and laying up a small sum of money, with which they buy bread and vegetables during a long voluntary vacation. Hoboes are seen quite often going to some camp near the city with bundles containing eatables for the lodgers at their novel hotel.

These men, so generally despised by the hard workers who consider idleness a crime, are in reality a fraternal set. If one of them is fortunate enough to accumulate a small sum of money he invariably shares it with his mates at the common board. If one among them is unfortunate enough to be a cripple, he is helped on by his fellow wanderers and is never allowed to go hungry.

Most of them travel in groups, a few sticking together during a whole summer's jaunt about the country. Only the other day in the North Western yards four tramps were seen to enter a freight car for a continuation of their journey, taking with them a blackened tin pail, which serves them for coffee pot or kettle, to be used again at future havens of rest. And for this they will be patted on the back and called good fellows by their fellow "hoboes" in other camps.

Is A College Graduate
Miss Pease is a graduate of Carrollton college at Fairbault and has been a school teacher for several years. During the past season she has had a school in Marinette county. When the vacation came she conceived the idea that it would be easy to earn money as a waitress and, imagining that no experience would be necessary for such a simple occupation as waiting on the table, she came to Janesville and secured a position at the Myers house. She soon discovered that the work was not as easy as it seemed and that she was not giving satisfaction, however hard she strove. Despondency and mental derangement followed. It is believed that a few days' rest in her home will restore her to her normal condition.

FOOTVILLE HAS ITS CELEBRATION

THREE THOUSAND PEOPLE ARE ENJOYING THEMSELVES.

SPECIAL TRAINS TAKE CROWDS

Biggest Picnic Ever Held in The Little Village.—Grand Parade This Morning.

Never in the history of Footville has such a crowd of merry-makers assembled within its village limits as is today enjoying the grand reunion of old-time residents of this famous burg. When the grand procession started this morning at ten o'clock three thousand people had already assembled and more were coming each minute. Special trains from Janesville, Evansville, Baraboo and Beloit had all arrived but the roads leading into the village were crowded with farmers' teams from all parts of the county. Men who have not met each other for years are holding informal gatherings and whole families are represented from grand-parents down to grand-children. It is a gala day for Footville, and Janesville has furnished many of the merry-makers.

Grand Parade
At ten o'clock this morning there was a grand parade. The Footville Cornet band was in the lead followed by fifty railroad men: hailing from Baraboo with a huge sign "We are the crowd from Baraboo." Then came Miss Zoe Cory driving a tandem pony team. She was followed by a float which had been arranged by her school children. Then came Fred Koehlin's giraffe and Harry Pepper in all his glory as the ten thousand dollar beauty. Other floats and mythical animals completed the parade, except for one feature which was decidedly unique. This was the wagons with the old residents of Footville over eighty years of age. Among them was Colonel Davis and wife, both colored. Col. Davis is a hundred and seven years old and his wife is in the last part of the century of life.

The Program
After the parade the speaking part of the program was indulged in. The president of the Footville association, W. H. Cory, presided. Rev. Allen of Footville made the opening prayer and Rev. Milton Walls of Footville gave the address of welcome. This was responded to by Rev. Munchler of Iowa and then addresses were made by T. M. Brayden, superintendent of the Galena division of the North-Western road, and Frank Brown of Baraboo. O. Wallihan of Point Royal, Virginia, and Miss Menno of Belle Plaine, Ia., also addressed the crowd.

Elaborate Dinners
The dinners served were in charge of Mrs. John Honeysett, Mrs. M. Kennedy, Mrs. Melhan, Mrs. Carrie Honeysett and Mrs. D. Tucker, and were meals long to be remembered. The different churches of the village combined to care for this important end of the day's enjoyment. Alexander Wiggins was marshal of the day and L. U. Fisher of Evansville was assistant marshal. This afternoon a ball game between the Footville team and Broadhead is in progress and the crowd.

Some tobacco is looking fine in this locality.

W. H. Flarity and family, of Edgerton, were pleasant visitors at Frank Boss' on Sunday.

The much wished for rain has at last come, reviving all vegetation. Quite a windstorm accompanied the Sunday evening. A tobacco shed at F. Sperry's was blown down killing a cow and numerous shrub trees were toppled over, but no further damage is reported here.

A large crowd attended the ball game at Gibbs' lake Sunday. Owing to the threatening weather, the game was not finished, but resulted in a victory for the Leydenites. Another game is to be played next Sunday, the winning team to carry away a new ball.

The Misses Kittle and May Nichols were Sunday visitors in Janesville.

At the annual school meeting held in district No. 3 S. Dooley was re-elected director.

SHOPIERE.

Shopiere, July 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Stewart, of Rockford, spent Sunday at Dr. Manley's.

Dr. Edwards and wife, of Beloit, visited at James Hagarty's on Sunday, remaining over Monday to attend the picnic.

The late rains have been of great benefit to the growing crops.

The annual school meeting was held on Tuesday evening. W. W. Swingle was re-elected for another term of office.

The celebration which was held on Monday in D. H. Smith's grove passed off in a very satisfactory manner. The games were quite exciting, especially the foot race, in which H. Overton beat the champion runner.

The ball game between the Manchester Gophers and the local team was well worth seeing. The Gophers were beaten by a score of 5 to 3. The Clinton band furnished music through the day and evening. A display of fireworks ended the day's enjoyment.

Mrs. Gellie Van Gilder, of Hartley, Iowa, is spending a few weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Postwick.

New ball grounds have been laid out near the residence of Albert Higgins, one mile north of the village.

Mrs. Clarence Van Gilder, of Racine, is visiting with her children at Frank Culver's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lawler, of Trinidad, Col., arrived here on Wednesday to visit Mrs. Lawler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Weirick.

BURR OAK.

Burr Oak, July 6.—Tobacco setting is still going on in our neighborhood and much resetting is being done.

Edgerton was the center of attraction for this part of town Fourth of July.

School meeting was called Tuesday evening. Mr. Frank Bruce was re-elected director.

Gordon Randall was one of the attractions of the Fourth.

The rural carriers out of Janesville have formed an organization, with the following officers: President, George Hiller; vice president, John Hill; secretary, G. B. Randall; treasurer, H. A. Palmer.

MILTON.

Milton, July 8.—Milton's Fourth of July celebration was the most successful in the history of the village, despite counter attractions in nearby places and the unfavorable weather in the forenoon. All the business places, but one, and most private houses, hung Old Glory and other decorations to the breeze and from the telephone cable hung a banner bearing the legend "Welcome."

The parade was superior to any of its predecessors and creditable to a much larger place. It is estimated that fifteen hundred people were on Janesville avenue when the parade passed around the park headed by the firemen's band. The address by Department Commander Phil Norcross, of Janesville, was listened to by a large audience and was a commendable effort. The ball game between Milton's old team and the Forest City club, of Rockford, drew out a great crowd in the afternoon and was won by Milton by a score of 6 to 0.

The line-up of the home team as: L. A. Platts, c; Furman, p; W. S. Holmes, 1b; W. Johnson, 2b; E. S. Green, 3b; E. M. Green, ss; D. N. Onkils, lf; J. F. Whitford, cf; W. Wilbur, rf. Umpire, M. C. Whitford.

The fire department gave a ladder climbing and hose coupling exhibition at there were a few races. A display of fireworks made a fitting ending to the doings of the day.

The following business houses, societies and individuals were represented in the parade: the fire department being represented by its hook and ladder truck, hose cart, engine, handsomely decorated, and its members. Kings Daughters, Iudana Lyceum of Milton college, Dunn, Boss & Co., W. B. Maxson, W. R. C. of A. D. Hamilton Post G. A. R., W. P. Clarke, W. W. Crossley, M. L. Brown, E. D. Bliss, E. A. Holmes, A. J. A Wonderful Record.

A. L. W. Bowers died the other day at New Philadelphia, O., at the age of 80. It was his proud boast that through his long life he had never tested intoxicants, chewed or smoked tobacco, or sworn an oath. It would be interesting to know who put his stovepipes and put down his carpets.

WINS HOUSE IN CHURCH RAFFLE

Woman Invests 50 Cents for Ticket Which Draws $3,000 Prize.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 8.—Several of Mrs. John P. Brown's neighbors aroused her before breakfast with the pleasing intelligence that she had become the owner of a $3,000 house on an investment of 50 cents. Mrs. Brown, who lives at 2453 North Fifteenth street, was with difficulty convinced of her good fortune. She had bought a ticket in a church raffle. Her ticket drew the prize.

Women to Have Tag Day.

Elkhart, Ind., July 8.—Elkhart clubwomen have decided to have a tag day July 23, for the purpose of raising funds for the Clark hospital. A clubwoman will stand at each street corner, and after receiving a donation a tag will be placed on the donor.

Threaten Senators.

Baltimore, July 8.—The police marshal of Baltimore has received a letter signed by the "Black Brotherhood," threatening to kill Senators Gorman and Tillman, Gov. Warfield and "all negro laters in the South."

Walk That Is Harmful.

Avoid, when you walk, the slide ways, waddling step. This is harmful, for it injures the spine and prevents one from ever getting there. It is not a walk that arrives. On the contrary, it is a sagging backward means of locomotion. It is a walk which soon degenerates into a waddle.

Humbly's Career Cut Short.

Dr. Katterfelto's was a name to conjure with in the latter years of the eighteenth century. He used to travel all over England in an enormous caravan, which he shared with a small army of black cats, and he was regarded everywhere as a wizard with supernatural powers until the mayor of Shrewsbury sent him to prison as a rogue and a vagabond.

Sand for Cut Glass.

The sand used in making glass for cut glass articles is quarried rock that has been crushed. The cutting operation consists of three stages. The article is first roughed with sand, and a steel grinding wheel. It is then smoothed by a stone cutting wheel, and is lastly finished by a wooden polishing wheel.

Cancerous Ulcers

ROOTED IN THE BLOOD.

After the age of 45 or 50, when the vital powers are naturally weaker, it is noticed that a hurt of any kind heals slowly, and often a very insignificant scratch or bruise becomes a bad ulcer or sore. At this time of life warty growths, moles and pimples that have been on the body almost from birth begin to inflame and fester, and before very long are large eating, sloughing ulcers.

Whenever a sore or ulcer is slow in healing then you may be sure something is radically wrong with your blood. Some old taint or poison that has been slumbering there for years is beginning to assert itself, and breaks out and becomes a bad ulcer and perhaps the beginning of cancer.

These old sores are rooted in the blood, and while washes, soaps, salves, etc., keep the surface clean, they are not healing. A blood medicine to purify and strengthen the polluted blood, and a tonic to build up the general system is what is needed, and S. S. S. is just such a remedy. No poison is so powerful and no germ so deadly that this great vegetable blood remedy cannot reach it, and ulcers of every kind quickly yield to its wonderful curative properties. Medical advice or any information you may desire will be given by our physician without charge.

A SOLDIER OF COMMERCE

By JOHN ROE GORDON

Copyright, 1902, by F. R. Tombs

CHAPTER XVIII.

A CONTRACT WITH A ROBBER CHIEF.

HARVEY broke the spell of silence. "I thought you would see daylight. Now that we agree, let us go on and plan. We must not lose sight of the fact that we are dealing with unknown quantities. We have no method of learning just where the girls are. We must use measures that will assist us. What was your idea when you spoke of becoming a traitor?" "I become a traitor the moment I give you your liberty and accompany you upon the proscribed ground of Bokhara."

"You must go even further than that. We must use the robbers."

"Palpak! I must at least send him and his brothers to Tills."

"You will then throw aside the one staff that can assist us over the difficulty."

"What use can the robbers be to us?"

"This fellow Palpak is chief of a clan called Zannucks, who hate the ameer and all those who are faithful to him. I overheard them talking in the cave. It seems the ameer levies such exorbitant taxes that the Zannucks cannot pay. He taxes everything—wives, children, cattle. That is the reason the chief seeks to rob the ameer and his people—to reimburse the Zannucks. Palpak would not hesitate to help us if by helping us he could work injury to the ameer. Grant the robbers their freedom. Let them take their booty to their people on condition that they assist us in rescuing the girls."

"Set free robbers who have attacked Russian paymasters?"

"You said that you would not turn back. Now you are trying to turn two ways—one toward Tills, the other toward Bokhara. It will not do. If you wish to accomplish anything in this affair, you must go the whole figure—take all and win or lose. That is the way I do business."

"What is your plan?"

"Have Palpak brought here and let us talk with him in a straightforward, businesslike way. Any man will help another if he can also benefit himself by doing so."

"I leave it to you. Your head is full of plans, while mine is simply taken up with thinking of poor Koura."

"I think of Anna as much as you do of Koura. But simply thinking will not rescue them. We must act, and act quickly."

Orskoff sent for Nerlsky. The lieutenant was pacing the bridge, eager to be off. He could not understand why the captain did not hurry to Tills with the prisoners instead of wasting the time chatting in an apparently friendly way with one of them.

"Lieutenant, have the chief robber brought to me," said the captain.

As Palpak was being led toward them Orskoff said to Harvey: "Conduct the negotiations. I will agree to anything you plan."

Orskoff ordered the iron removed from the robber. When the three were alone, Harvey said to Palpak: "We have had you brought here to have a businesslike talk. You appreciate our situation, I suppose."

"I am a prisoner of the czar. He will perhaps kill me."

"Just so. And all of your treasure, the stonings of many months, is on board this boat."

"Yes, to enrich a Russian officer. My people can starve. The ameer's tax must be paid or twenty of our best young men and women must go to Bokhara. It is wrong."

"Of course it is wrong. We know your people hate the ameer and that the ameer is cruel. It was a strange chance that took me to that island of Ping Shong."

"You saved my life, for my brothers were mad with wine."

"Your future course will show whether I did well. Let me explain how I came to the island."

Then followed a detailed rehearsal of the story of Koura and Anna.

"They are beautiful girls," said Harvey as he concluded. "One is to be the wife of the captain; the other is to be my wife."

"Why do you tell me this? I am a prisoner."

"Because we want your assistance in rescuing these two girls from the men of Bokhara. They are your enemies, and you have sufficient reason to hate them."

"But I do not love the Russians more."

"This is not a question of loving the Russians. I saved your life, did I not?"

"I would do anything for you."

"Suppose you are set free and the treasure is restored to you. The only return we ask is that you give us all the assistance in your power to recover the two young women."

"Do you mean that the Russian will permit me to depart in peace to my people and take with me the treasure that I stole?"

"Yes; to rescue the young girls we will do that. The captain has promised it."

"Do you agree?" put in Orskoff anxiously.

"I am not a fool."

"That means you agree, of course," said Harvey. "The ameer is the eldest rascal in Asia, but our united brains ought to be able to outwit him. First we must figure out where the girls probably are now."

"Where was the ameer's boat when you saw it?" asked Palpak eagerly.

"I cannot say. I drifted all day and half the night before I reached the island. It went in the same direction I drifted."

"They were going to Sloom."

"What is Sloom?"

"The most important port on the Bokhara shore. It is not a Zannuck village."

"We have had you brought here to have a businesslike talk."

large, nor do the people like the ameer. They are for the greater part exiles from Khliva."

"Then they will not fight for the ameer?"

"No, nor against him. They wish only to be let alone."

"How long would it take the boat to reach Sloom?"

"Two days. By this time they are at Sloom, and we could not overtake them, as the finest camels of the ameer would be in waiting for them, with a guard of his best soldiers."

"Is it not possible that a caravan of rich goods will take advantage of this escort and go to Bokhara?"

"It would be so."

"There would be some delay getting started."

"The ameer's soldiers would be afraid to linger."

"Then what can be done, Palpak? We put the matter into your hands."

"Excellent sir, you promise me much. One of you saved my life; the other, a Russian officer, released me, and I can take the treasure to my starving people. I am grateful. I will do all I can to assist you in winning back the young women. From Sloom the road to Bokhara is winding. It runs through what is called the Sloom pass. We are now in what is known as the Kharaboghan. A short sail from here is a small village on the coast belonging to my people. By going there and taking the trail over the mountains we can reach the Sloom pass at a point where it will be four days' journey for the caravan. It will take us only three days."

"Good!" said Harvey. "What then?"

"The Zannucks have many causes to hate the soldiers of the ameer. They will have fine camels and horses. They will also have many valuables going to Bokhara. If there is to be a wedding of a prince, there will be great feasting, and the ameer will distribute gifts. Some of these will be in the caravan. My people will follow me to the Sloom pass."

"By the Kharaboghan do you mean the Scythian gulf?" asked Harvey.

"Yes. It is what we call the gulf."

"Then our plan is clear. Orskoff, you and I will go with Palpak in his boat to this village of his people and accompany his warriors to the pass. Send Nerlsky to Sloom with all speed. If he finds the caravan there, let him attack and rescue the girls. If the caravan has gone, let him wait there for our return. We must go back to Sloom if we rescue the girls or there will be no way of leaving the coast."

Nerlsky listened with many misgivings. A Russian officer to release prisoners in this manner and to set foot on forbidden soil! But Orskoff was his superior officer. He could do nothing but obey.

The treasure was placed in Palpak's waiting vessel, and the four robbers, with Harvey and Orskoff, the latter fully armed from the stores of the gumbent, went on board. The gumbent steamed away for Sloom, and the other boat, with all sail set, started for Palpak's little village.

PUTS A STOP TO LAND FRAUDS

Decision Involving Right of Woman to Transfer Homestead.

Washington, July 8.—The district supreme court has decided in favor of the government in the case of Anna Bowes and others against the secretary of the interior. The effect of the decision is to stop cattle companies from the misuse of the soldiers' homestead right belonging to widows so as to secure large bodies of land without compliance with the law by the entry women. It is stated that it does not take away the privileges given under the law. The case arose from a department decision that the widow or minor orphan children of a deceased soldier or sailor taking homestead entry must comply with the homestead laws as to residence and cultivation of the same as a soldier or sailor entering and that the right to make such entry is not transferable and that contracts contemplating the sale of such entries are in violation of the law.

YATES REVIEWS STATE MILITIA

Governor and Staff Are Received With Honors at Camp Lincoln.

Springfield, Ill., July 8.—Thursday was governor's day at Camp Lincoln and the executive and his staff were received during the afternoon with the usual honors. After the customary exchange of courtesies the regiment was reviewed by the commander in chief. An hour later there was the regular evening parade, followed by a dinner at general headquarters given by Adj. Gen. Scott to the officers of the Second regiment and a number of other guests. The first serious case of illness in camp was reported when Private Kudlee developed symptoms of appendicitis. He was taken to his home in Chicago.

CHILDREN IN SUNBEAM CHORUS

Illinois Endeavorers Hold Largest Meeting in Society's History.

Springfield, Ill., July 8.—The greatest Christian Endeavorers' convention in the history of the Illinois organization met in the state armory here Thursday night. The address of welcome was delivered by Gov. Yates and the response was by F. W. Burnham of Decatur, vice president of the society. President Henry H. Marcumson of Chicago presided and the address of the evening was delivered by Dr. James H. Gray of Boston. Deless Smith of Chicago will direct the music for 500 children, who will sing the "Sunbeam Chorus."

NOMINEES OF THE LIBERALS

Illinois Man Will Head Ticket Named by New Party.

St. Louis, Mo., July 8.—After reconsidering its action in endorsing the candidacy of President Roosevelt for re-election in place of making its own nominations the negro liberty party nominated William T. Scott of East St. Louis and W. C. Payne of Warrenton, Va., for president and vice president of the United States. S. P. Mitchell of Memphis declined the nomination for first place on the negro ticket, but will manage the campaign as chairman of the executive committee with headquarters in Chicago.

JEWELS STOLEN FROM A SAFE

Wife of Bishop H. C. Potter Victim of Darling Theft.

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 8.—Fifty thousand dollars' worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Potter, wife of Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York, was stolen from a safe in the office of the Clark estate here. The boxes in which the jewels had been kept were found in the cellar with blood stains on them. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for the thief's arrest.

There is no let up in interest in the state situation.

His Graduation Exercises. Asked the other day, as to the absence of a youthful member of his flock, Brother Williams replied that he was "in his graduation exercises—in prison. You see," he explained, "hit was disaway. He started humble—in de chain gang; but, by perseverance en strict attention ter business he finally graduated ter de Fed'ral prison of de United States!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Russians Indifferent to Pain. A remarkable feature of the Cosack and Russian soldier is his insensibility to pain. In the Balkan struggle men suffering from incredible wounds used to march stolidly to the ambulance, so that soldiers left in the firing line should not have to be detached to carry them away.

Japan's Determination. Japan is, under ordinary conditions, the Land of To-morrow. When the time comes to act quickly, she is the Land of Instant Movement. She strikes quickly, and, as an American naval officer said the other day, "that is why Japan has made it understood that she is going to carry on this war as mistress of the Eastern Seas."

Tell a man he shows diplomacy and he feels he has escaped being detected in a direct lie.

Ambition is a pipe dream preceded by a horrible nightmare and followed by a rude awakening when the pipe goes out.

HON. EDWARD C. WALL. Named as the choice of Wisconsin democrats for the presidential nomination at the St. Louis convention. He is engaged in the real estate and investment business in Milwaukee. He has served his party as a member of the national committee, and as chairman of the state committee. He has held office under both the municipal, state and national governments.
